

WOULD PRESERVE WORLD RESOURCES

Pres. Roosevelt Sounds New
Keynote at North American Conservation Conference.

WANTS UNIVERSAL CONGRESS

Hopes One in Which All Nations Will Participate Will Become Reality
At No Distant Day.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Conservation co-operation of world-wide scope was the keynote of an address of President Roosevelt, made at the White House today before the delegates in attendance upon the North American conservation conference. This sentiment, which was first voiced by the president, gathered considerable momentum during the day's proceedings, and was reflected in addresses of those who participated.

Characterizing the movement as of the "utmost importance to the world at large," President Roosevelt intimated upon the representatives of the government, Canada and Mexico the momentous possibilities of the work that has brought about the assembly.

President Roosevelt, after the session opened, expressed the hope to see, of State Bacon that a universal conservation congress, in which all nations should be invited to participate, should become a reality in the not distant future.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The president, after extending a hearty welcome, said:

"This conference represents one of the many steps that have been taken of recent years looking toward a harmonious co-operation between the nations of the earth for the common advancement of all."

"In international relations the great feature of the growth of the last century has been the gradual recognition of the fact that instead of its being normal to the interest of one nation to see another depressed, it is normally to the interest of each nation to see the others elevated. Fundamentally, it is the same with nations as it is with individuals."

Constipation

Should not be neglected. It leads to more serious troubles. It shows that the important functions of the liver are imperfectly performed. The best medicine to take for it is the mild, gentle and purely vegetable cathartic, Hood's Pills, which act on the liver and bowels, cure biliousness, constipation, morning and sick headache, break up colds, relieve uncomfortable fullness after dinner to do well.

Are prepared by C. I. HOOD CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists and sent by mail. Price, 25c.

"As a rule the most prosperous man is the man who lives in a prosperous community; as a rule the man is prosperous who has prosperous people to deal with. This is especially true of business with other prosperous people, who have prosperous people around about him. A poor locality is just the locality where it is hardest for the ablest type of man to do well."

"The ablest man will do best where his neighbors also do well. It is just so with us as nations. In commercial relations the trade of one nation is greatest not with the poor and backward nation, but with the rich and the progressive nation."

A GREAT MOVEMENT.
"The movement that you gentlemen are beginning, of national co-operation for the conservation of natural and international resources, marks another stage in the advance along these lines. Each nation will be left absolutely free, of course, to exercise its own wisdom in doing with the things that concern itself, but it will be given the chance to profit by the wisdom of other nations; and I know of no nation or no individual, that cannot profit by the wisdom of others."

"In addition, the opportunity will be given to all of us to join together in doing the work that can best be done in union, by all or some of us, as compared with doing it each one separately. With nations whose boundaries march along a great extent of land frontier, as with Canada, the United States and Mexico, there are necessarily large tracts of land in which the welfare of the people depends upon the action not only of that country, but of the neighboring country. This, of course, is especially true where our streams are concerned. You cannot cut down the forests on the headwaters of an international stream without having it hurt both nations."

"I am anxious to do all that in me lies to help you gentlemen in getting our several peoples to come together with the idea of working in harmony for the common good, instead of working each to get something at the expense of the other. Ultimately each of us will profit immeasurably if, instead of striving to advance by tramping down the other, each strives to advance by joining with the other for the common advancement."

"I welcome you on behalf of our people. I think it is of good augury for the North American continent that you should be here, and I believe that the movement which you this day inaugurate is of the utmost importance to this hemisphere and may be of the utmost importance to the world at large."

SECY. WILSON'S VIEW.
Secy. Wilson declared it was only a question of time when, through the efforts of experts of his department, the cotton boll weevil, which has been destructive of the cotton industry, and the cattle tick, will be entirely eradicated.

Wheat is the most important cereal used as food for man.

The experiments in the cotton states, the secretary said, would also benefit Mexico.
Canada, said Commissioner Sydney Fisher, has watched with the closest attention the conservation movement in the United States.
Romulo Escobas, one of the Mexican commissioners, declared the conservation movement would find no boundary line, but eventually would prevail in all countries.

A dark picture of the alleged wanton destruction of American forests was painted by Senator Smoot of Utah. He said that the men who in the past thought that the conservation movement was a dream rather than a practical question are now seeing that a new dawn is ahead of the American people.

Senator Newlands prophesied that the movement will find a constantly increasing momentum and that the idea will live and find its perfection in legislation.
Permanent organization of the North American conservation congress was perfected at the first regular session, with the selection of Clifford Pinchot, a member of the American delegation, as chairman, no other name being presented.

A NATIONAL DANGER.

That Americans Will Become Nation
Of High Sopranos.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—"If we don't watch out we are going to become a nation of high sopranos, although at present we have only reached the point of expressing all of our sentiments—ethical, emotional and intellectual in a voice that screams."

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chatfield Taylor last night learned of this unsuspicious national peril from George Riddle of Boston.
By way of proving his first statement, Mr. Riddle reproduced the popular way of expressing sentiments of love, humility, excitement and anger. Juliet, he declared, wished herself no longer a Capulet in the treble clef, the political declared his platform in a falsetto pitch.

All this might be funny, he announced, if it were not so dangerous. Mental breakdowns, he said, are traceable in some instances to our high pitched voices.

MAGNETIC SURVEY YACHT.

New York, Feb. 18.—To a Massachusetts firm has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new magnetic survey yacht for the Carnegie Institute of Washington. Specifications call for the completion of the vessel by July 1 of this year. She will be placed in commission as soon thereafter as a practical test can be made. This is in view of making delicate experiments in magnetism and it was essential that no magnetic metal be used to influence the instruments, and the contractors announce that they have solved the difficulty. They will use vanadium bronze which is a non-magnetic, non-corrosive and yet a ductile metal. Of this material the anchor, mast, piping and other structure will be made. Even the crank shaft will be moulded from this bronze and to eliminate the necessity of a boiler, a gas producer will be used to create motive power. Never before, it is said, has a gas producer been thus utilized in a ship.

IN A HURRY TO BE ROBBED.

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—"Hurry up and take my money, so I can catch my train," said Edward Cogley, a Washburn engineer, when waylaid by three bandits early today. Cogley was due to take his train out of Union station a short time later, and chafed under the delay incident to being robbed of $8, a watch and a gold medal for bravery which adorned his breast. He urged them to make haste so the train would not be held up as well as himself.

WORN OUT.

That's the way you feel about the lungs when you have a hacking cough. It's foolishness to let it go on and trust to luck to get over it. When Ballard's Forehead Syrup will stop the cough and heal the lungs.

BAGGAGEMAN ARRESTED.

Accused of Stealing from Suitcases
And Trunks.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—George Kautenberger, baggage-master for more than 22 years on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, has been arrested on charges of stealing from suit cases and trunks.

A search warrant was issued yesterday and jewelry and men's and women's wearing apparel valued at $800 were found in his room.

About four years ago passengers began to report thefts but Kautenberger escaped suspicion until about 10 days ago.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

One of the most elaborate events of the season was the reception given by Mrs. E. Bonnemort in honor of Gov. and Mrs. Spry on Thursday night. The rooms were beautifully decorated in the national colors, an electric flag being over the entrance, and the walls and mantels being draped with the red, white and blue. The chandeliers had red and white electric lights and were decorated in small flags. The dining-room was done entirely in red, the table having a China lace cloth laid over red satin, and a centerpiece of American Beauty roses, while from the chandeliers reached ropes of similar studded with red and white electric globes, and finished at the corner with Venetian vases with red and white carnations. The entire front of the house outside was draped with flags, a large one flying from the cupola and another draping the front of the porch. When Gov. and Mrs. Spry arrived, the staff in full uniform lined up on the path to meet him, and the regimental band from Fort Louisa played "Hail to the Chief." In the drawing room which was bright with chrysanthemums and lilies, Mrs. Bonnemort received, assisted by the guests of honor, and her daughter, Mrs. Albright, of Montana. In addition to the staff, Mrs. Bonnemort was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Young, Mrs. N. A. Dunyon, Mrs. Margaret Zane Wilcher, Mrs. D. C. Echnor, Mrs. P. S. Keogh, Mrs. H. A. McMillin, Mrs. W. M. McCreary and Mrs. H. C. Hoffman. Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. F. L. Albright of Kalamazoo, Mont.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Barton of Ogden, Miss Stevens of Ogden, Prof. and Mrs. R. F. Chaffin of Provo, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Barnes and Miss Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Blood, Mr. and Mrs. Thornley and Miss Thornley of Kayville, and Mrs. Fred Halverson of Oakley, Idaho. Mrs. Bonnemort wore a handsome costume of garnet velvet with garnets and diamonds for ornaments. Mrs. Spry a beautiful gown of gray satin with trimmings of real lace and silver passementerie and Mrs. Albright an exquisite creation of white lace over pink satin. Nearly 400 people were present, including many of the officers and their ladies from the post.

A ROBBER OF FLATS.

Young Man's Musical Ability Aided His Business.

New York, Feb. 18.—George Lyon, 29 years old, admitted to the police after being arrested in Brooklyn last night that he had robbed a number of flats aided by his marked musical ability. He would rent a room with a family, gain their confidence by posing as a high class musician, entertain them with classical compositions on the piano, then, seizing the first opportunity, strip the apartment of its valuables and other articles. He was found in his possession. He refused to say where he was from, although he discussed quite candidly his recent operations as a skillful musical thief.

SEA SERPENT STORY

FROM LONG BEACH

Long Beach, Cal., Feb. 18.—Five men who went fishing yesterday on the launch Rita assert they had an encounter with a sea serpent at the Granger banks 13 miles off shore. Guy Griffith and James Harvey were of the party.

"The monster was about 40 feet long," said Griffith, "and about 15 feet back from the head it had a big dorsal fin. The head was as big as a barrel and brown, with eyes as big as my fist and it moved from side to side. The tail was like that of a porpoise. We first sighted the thing 100 feet away. 'The head was then out of the water and I started to shoot at it, but feared it might become angry and wreck us, so I told one of the boys to start the engine and we glided away, but the monster came after us. It gave the engine all speed and got away from the creature.'"

IMPALED ON WIRE FENCE.

Escondido, Cal., Feb. 18.—John Martinez, a ranch hand, is dead as the result of having been impaled upon a barbed wire fence for three days. When found he was alive and taken to the hospital but succumbed to shock and exposure.

When found his head touched the ground upon one side of the fence and his feet the ground on the opposite side. His hands were impaled in his abdomen and he was unable to extricate himself.

ALFALFA AND CLOVER.

Agricultural Department Agent Returns With Many Varieties.

Washington, Feb. 18.—N. E. Hansen, the agricultural explorer and horticulturist, who for the past eight months has been traveling through Russia, Siberia, Central Asia, Turkistan and northern Africa, in quest of new varieties of alfalfa and clover for cultivation in this country, has returned with more than 300 lots of seeds and plants to be used by the department in experimental work. On previous trips, Prof. Hansen has found alfalfa and clover plants which have been found to thrive in sections of the west where it had been impossible to raise plants of the same variety advantageously. He also introduced in the northwest a Siberian alfalfa that is believed to be the hardiest of protein plants and endures the severest cold.

Prof. Hansen has found two more varieties of this northern plant which grows in a section of Siberia where the mercury freezes and where there is no snow. The department of agriculture will conduct experiments with the new plant in several northwestern states.
